The Caledonian Canal

Explore the heart of the Scottish Highlands

The Caledonian Canal offers a coast-to-coast link through spectacular scenery in the heart of the Scottish Highlands. Stretching from Inverness in the east to Fort William in the west, the canal is approximately 96.5km (60 miles) in length, of which 34.5km (22 miles) is man-made and the remainder being formed by natural fresh water lochs.

There are 29 locks and 11 swing bridges along the waterway, all of which are operated by trained staff. Allow a minimum of three-and-a-half days to transit the canal, and more if you wish to explore further the many attractions of the Great Glen, particularly during our busy summer season.

CHANNEL DIMENSIONS

|---------|------------------|
| Length  | 45.72m (150ft)   |
| Beam    | 10.67m (35ft)    |
| Draught | 4.1m (13ft 5in*) |

*Vessels with freshwater draught over 3m (9.8ft) MUST contact the canal office in advance. Maximum mast height in the canal is 35m (115ft) above the waterline, but clearance under the Kessock Bridge on the Inverness Firth is lower at 29m (95ft) at mean high water springs.

CANAL LICENCES

A range of visitor licences are available which are valid for all Scottish Canals. Full details of great value transit and short-term stay packages may be obtained from scottishcanals.co.uk and from our Canal Office. Competitive rates for winter mooring are also available; call the Canal Office on 01463 725500 for more details.

Purchase your licence online prior to arrival at scottishcanals.co.uk, where our Skipper's Guide is also available to download. This guide contains navigation information to help make your transit through the canal safe and enjoyable.

FACILITIES

Transit berths are available throughout the canal. Toilets, showers and laundry facilities, shore power and water, diesel and pump-out, Wi-Fi and local services are all available at various locations along the canal - please check Skipper's Guide for specific information. Due to environmental legislation, we are unable to provide water hoses. Please remember to bring your own hose.

PILOTS

Information is contained in the following publications: The Admiralty North Coast of Scotland Pilot (NP52) and the Admiralty West of Scotland Pilot (NP66). Also in Almanacs published by Imray, Laurie, Norie & Wilson and by the Clyde Cruising Club.

CHARTS

Eastern Approaches Moray Firth 115, Inverness Firth 1078, Caledonian Canal 1791, Western Approaches Loch Linnhe (North) 2380, Fort William and Corpach 2372 (all Admiralty).

HOURS OF OPERATION

The Caledonian Canal operates on a seasonal basis: seven days per week in spring, summer and autumn, and Monday to Friday during winter, dependant on canal works. Please visit scottishcanals.co.uk for exact operating times and dates or contact the local Canal Office.

TIDAL OPERATION

Special note must be taken of the tidal restrictions at sea locks. Within normal operating hours, Corpach Sea Lock is available  $\geq 1.3\text{m}$ , and Clachnaharry Sea Lock is available  $\geq 1.4\text{m}$ . Please note that at spring tides the sea locks are CLOSED 2 hours either side of low tide. Contact the Sea Lock Keeper (VHF Ch 74) for local advice.

ACTIVITIES

With spectacular scenery, amazing wildlife, and of course the famous Scottish hospitality, the Caledonian Canal has lots to offer. Explore the Great Glen by boat, boot or bike, visit the Caledonian Canal Centre at Fort Augustus, or see if you can spot Nessie. For more ideas visit scottishcanals.co.uk.

CHARTER HOLIDAYS

Cabin cruisers or yachts are available for charter - ideal for those new to boating or an exciting family holidays. Alternatively, enjoy a break on the banks of Loch Ness in our boutique rooms at the Caledonian Canal Centre Lock Chambers at Fort Augustus. Visit scottishcanals.co.uk for details.

TAYVALLICH

Tayvallich bay is known as a safe and picturesque anchorage for visiting yachts and motor cruisers. Tayvallich is a popular destination for walkers, foodies and wildlife lovers with a local bus service and connections to both Glasgow and Jura/Islay. The village has a popular pub/restaurant, a well-stocked shop, and coffee shop all supplying local produce. The shop has a shower for visitors use. There are four visitor moorings and two areas designated for anchoring marked on the chartlet. Visitors are welcomed to stay on the pontoon overnight on a first come first served basis. Avoid the Jura Passenger Ferry berth on the south corner. Water is available on the pontoon.

EASDALE SOUND

The Oyster Bar in Ellenabeich and the Puffer Bar on the island both serve good food. The island has an interesting history of slate working, which is well described in the islands small museum. There are walks around the abandoned slate quarries, and a stroll to the top of the 122ft hill offers unrivalled views of the Firth of Lorn to the north and the many islands to the south. The shoreline offers the opportunity for beachcombing or soaking up the fresh Atlantic air. Pontoon for RIBs (small charge payable). An overnight visitor mooring is often available. ## Puilladobhrain

Puilladobhrain at the North Eastern end of Seil Island provides a wonderfully sheltered anchorage, a well known secret amongst those who sail this coast line. Almost totally enclosed it offers all the advantages of a remote spot, peace and tranquillity, encompassed by a myriad of small islands whilst only being a ten minute walk from the Tigh an Truish Pub and the world famous Bridge Over the Atlantic. Whilst the public bar retains its old charm, the Restaurant and Café have been recently refurbished. Treat yourself to a delicious plate of langoustines or one of the other seasonal dishes based on locally sourced produce or just enjoy a cappuccino and a cake whilst checking your email on the free wifi. Check seasonal opening times and make bookings online.

Oban offers yachts a delightful marina, moorings and a very handy transit berthing facility at North Pier.

Oban can be approached from the south through the tranquil and scenic Sound of Kerrera, or, more directly via the north entrance.

If using the north entrance please be aware that about 20000 large commercial vessels are using this entrance annually and have right of way over all small vessel in the large vessel channel.

There is plenty of sea room between the edges of the large vessel channel and the shore for small vessels.

Please plan your route before entering Oban and keep a good lookout at all times.

PORT APPIN

Situated in one of Argyll's most spectacular destinations on Loch Linnhe, just 10 miles by sea (20 by road) north of Oban, the 7 Pierhouse Hotel moorings (max capacity 20 tonnes) offer inner and outer lines at 3 metres and 5 metres depth respectively at low water.

The nearby concrete ferry jetty provides shelter for landing on the northern side. Marine visitor facilities include sauna, shower and laundry facilities.

The Pierhouse Hotel is renowned for its award winning restaurant (AA Rosette) serving fresh local seafood, meat and game, daily lunch and bar dinner menus, as well as home baking and teas/coffees. Breakfast is available in the hotel to non-residents. The Pierhouse Hotel holds the Scottish Romantic Restaurant of the Year Award.

CORPACH

Corpach is the western terminus of the Caledonian Canal, which links Scotland's east and west coasts, avoiding the difficult passage around the north of mainland Scotland and through the Pentland Firth. The sea-lock is available HW±4 hours, within canal operating hours. The basin does not have permanent mooring facilities, and is usually occupied by craft waiting to leave the canal, or to proceed to the east. There are shops and other amenities nearby, including the railway from Fort William to Mallaig. More information can be obtained, and a Skipper's Guide downloaded, by visiting the Scottish Canals website, or by contacting the Canal Office.

LOCH STAOSNAIG, ISLE OF COLONSAY

Colonsay Community Development Company is delighted to be welcoming yachts to 6 visitor moorings, new as of 2022 - a community-led enterprise.

Queen's Bay is a tranquil spot; offering no facilities, but the best shelter on the east, and spectacular views across to Jura. It's an ideal base from which to explore the island and the white sands of Oransay also on a day trip. On foot with sturdy footwear, a walk over rough ground brings you to Colonsay's hotel & bar restaurant, or around the headland into Scalasaig where you'll find our well-stocked shop and welcoming Pantry. For closer access to Scalasaig village amenities, please check Calmac's harbour guidance for tendering ashore there: <https://www.calmac.co.uk/Colonsayharbour>

Our island's power supply comes along the submarine cable at Queen's Bay. We join SSN in discouraging yachts from dropping anchor near to where this lies.

STRONTIAN

Strontian moorings are situated at the head of Loch Sunart amongst mountains and wooded shores. The voyage up the loch is an interesting exercise in pilotage but not as daunting as the pilot books suggest, just a few rocks to dodge. The Jetty and moorings are situated a 1 mile walk from the village and services. For the 2018 season three visitor moorings are planned off the jetty, run by the Sunart Community Company. There will be no fixed charge, however a voluntary donation of £10/night would be gratefully received towards maintenance. Collection boxes located at village shop, post office, Strontian Hotel. The Kilcamb Lodge has two moorings which are available for visiting yachts.

ARISAIG

Arisaig is known as 'The Gateway to the Small Isles', the perfect sheltered base from which to explore the west coast of Scotland.

Arisaig Marine has been established for 40 years and provides an efficient and comprehensive service whilst still retaining the personal touch of a small family run business. Arisaig is a safe haven for visiting yachts, with 60 professionally checked swinging moorings available to rent from a nightly to a seasonal basis.

The village offers a choice of places to dine, with two hotels, café and restaurant just a short walk from the harbour, and the stunning Arisaig House on the outskirts of the village. In the village there is also a post office, shop, train station, bus service and an excellent small museum. The breathtaking Traigh golf course lies two miles north.

MALLAIG

Mallaig Harbour's yachting pontoons can accommodate 25 visiting vessels, with a further nine moorings. Mallaig is a working fishing port, and is the ferry terminal for Skye; The Small Isles of Eigg, Muck, Rum and Canna; Knoydart and South Uist – all accessible for yachts sailing from Mallaig. Entrance to the Harbour is controlled by three red lights – when lit, any ferry traffic has right of way. There are a range of options for shopping, eating and drinking within walking distance of the pontoon, and a Post Office and bank locally. Overnight rates are £2.75 per metre incl VAT (£33 for 40ft).

ARMADALE (ARDEVASAR)

Armadale is a natural stopping off place for yachts making to or from Ardnamurchan. Moorings are available through South Sleat Community Moorings Association for short or long term rental. Contact SSCMA by email: admin@armadalemoorings.com. The overnight mooring fee is £15. Payment is by the Cash honesty box at the top of the Old Pier steps or online by bank transfer/Paypal. There is a dinghy pontoon behind the Old Pier where you can get ashore. Please ensure that your dinghy is left out of the way of commercial users. Armadale is a great place to leave a yacht for a while or for crew changes. The nearby Castle and Gardens visitor centre has much of interest and the village stores and garage are a few minutes walk away. Meals at The Inn @ Ardbhasair: 01471 844223. ## INVERIE, KNOYDART

The Old Forge pub is situated in Inverie, Loch Nevis (7 miles from Mallaig) offers six visitor moorings for those looking for an idyllic stop-off on a West Coast tour. Known as mainland Britain's remotest pub, it is also community-owned and offers guests a traditional Highland welcome. Six moorings are available on a first-come-first served basis, by donation for nightly use. The nearby all-weather and tide pier can be used for disembarking. The pub offers a great selection of drinks featuring local ales, spirits and malts, and the newly refurbished kitchen is due to reopen in 2023 (please enquire). Free wifi. Large and small groups welcome - come away in!

BADACHRO

Badachro is famous for its convivial waterside pub, local atmosphere, great views. Nautical style decking with sails and rigging runs right down to the water.

Sailing visitors and chatty locals mix happily in the bar, where you'll find interesting photographs and collages on the walls. The dining area on the left has big tables by a huge log fire, and there's a dining conservatory overlooking the bay. Excellent fresh fish is a feature of the menu. Friendly staff serve beers from the An Teallach or Caledonian breweries, and a farm cider. Over 50 malt whiskies, and a good changing wine list, complete the picture.

The bay is very sheltered, virtually landlocked by Eilean Horridale just opposite; you may see seals in the water, and occasionally even otters.

LEVERBURGH

Leverburgh is a small village on the Sound of Harris. Facilities include a pontoon (with limited berths), public toilets, a restaurant and bar, electricity, fuel, water and RNLI Lifeboat Station all available at the pier.

Newly installed drying out berth for boats up to 55ft (length) and 20ft (beam). Draft to a max of 1.5m depending on tide. We do NOT consider the facility suitable for fin keel boats but OK for bilge keels, also serves as a trailer borne boat launch/recovery facility, again tide dependent.

We charge £20/day as an emergency berth and £10/launch or recovery.

Please check for availability and how to pay.

STORNOWAY

A favourite destination for those sailing to the Outer Hebrides and exploring the islands by boat, Stornoway is the largest harbour in the Outer Hebrides. Stornoway Port is well sheltered and easy to access at all states of the tide for vessels up to 6.5m draft in all weather conditions. The 80-berth marina provides a safe haven for island hoppers and day sailors. Marina lies right in the heart of the town centre. As the major settlement in the islands Stornoway has all you would expect in a bustling coastal town. Transport links can take visitors to see the iconic attractions and activities that gained this island the accolade of being voted Europe's top island by Tripadvisor in 2014.

ORKNEY ISLANDS

In addition to Orkney's 3 marinas, most if not all the islands have an anchorage, pier, or in some cases visitor moorings, so that they all can be visited in appropriate weather conditions. These amount to around 25 locations, with many more fair weather anchorages among the islands. www.orkneyharbours.com/pdfs/PortsHandbook-2010-V4.pdf

SHETLAND ISLANDS

There are around 16 small marinas with depths alongside in excess of 2m. Skippers planning to spend time in the Shetlands should obtain the Shetland Marinas publication, which can be downloaded from www.shetlandmarinas.com. In all there are 24 marinas around the Shetland archipelago, but some are suitable for small boats only, with insufficient depth at their pontoons for cruising yachts. Anchoring off and landing by dinghy is a good option at these locations.

PETERHEAD

Peterhead Bay Harbour is a deep water inlet protected from the sea by two breakwaters. The port mainly services the fishing and oil industries. Peterhead is an ideal staging post for vessels heading to and from Scandinavia and vessels heading to the Caledonian Canal and the sailing areas on the West of Scotland. There are 150 fully serviced berths, of which 20 are for visiting vessels. The entrance depth is 2.3m, with 2.5m at the main berths. Peterhead town is short walk/taxi ride away. Provisions and all manner of marine service requirements can be obtained there. The bus connection to Aberdeen stops at the marina access road. The nearby Prison Museum is a popular tourist attraction.

BANFF

A former fishing and cargo port now used as a recreational harbour, Banff offers excellent facilities to regular and visiting users. The marina provides 76 serviced pontoon berths (6 reserved for visitors) in one of the safest harbours on the coast. Fresh water is available on the quays, and there is a small repair/painting plinth, storage compounds and car parking. Banff is a handsome town with many amenities, and is well worth exploring. NAVIGATIONAL NOTE: A yacht of 1.8m draft can only enter 4 hours either side of HW. The visitor berths have a minimum of 1.8m at all states of the tide.

NORTH KESSOCK COMMUNITY PIER

A ferry operated here from as far back as the 15th century until the bridge was opened in 1982. North Kessock is a charming village built around the pier, which is now owned and maintained by the community. It has an excellent Hotel, Café, Gallery and Village Shop. Frequent bus service to Inverness. Coastal and hill walks provide abundant wildlife and beautiful views. Visitors are welcome to lie alongside the tidal pier, free of charge. It is suitable for vessels up to 20 metres length and depth is well over two meters at all but the very lowest of tides. Ideal for launching trailered craft, with ample parking and easy access to the A9. Sorry no jet skis. Perfect stop over if awaiting entrance to the Caledonian Canal.

INVERNESS SEAPORT MARINA

Seaport Marina is based at Muirtown Wharf at the eastern entrance to the Caledonian Canal. Only a 15 minute walk from the centre of Inverness, this is an ideal base for visiting the Highlands. Clachnaharry Sea Lock is available HW+/- 4 hours, within operating hours. As well as the facilities listed, a disabled crew lift is also available at Seaport Marina and at various locations along the canal (Caley Marina, Temple Pier, Fort Augustus and Banavie). There are shops and amenities nearby, and Caley Marina, only a short distance from Muirtown Basin, offers visitor mooring facilities, a chandlery, repair services, and a boat hoist and slipway. More information can be obtained, and a Skipper's guide downloaded, by visiting the Scottish Canals website or by contacting the Canal Office, see above.

FAIR ISLE

Fair Isle, world-famous for its knitting and bird life, has a well sheltered and easily accessible pier at North Haven, and a pontoon for visiting yachts, which can also anchor off the pier if preferred. The island makes a great stepping stone, whether on the way north to Shetland or heading south to explore the rest of Britain. Fair Isle's internationally acclaimed Lodge and Bird Observatory is around 300 metres from the pier and has toilets, showers and a telephone as well as serving excellent food. Fair Isle is also famous for its knitting and is the only source of the genuine Fair Isle garment. The George Waterston Memorial Centre & Museum is packed with displays of the island's history from prehistoric times to the present.

LERWICK

Larger yachts use the harbour wall. No restrictions on size of craft. Two dedicated 70 metre floating pontoons for use by visiting yachts, fitted with integral bollards providing fresh water and electricity. Disabled access gangways.

Over 500 yachts call at Lerwick each year with crews from the UK, Scandinavia and beyond exploring Shetland's 1,700 miles of spectacular coastline. Visitors enjoy modern town centre berthing facilities within easy walking distance of local shops, fresh produce, arts, crafts and a variety of restaurants and bars. World class attractions include incredible geology, diverse landscapes, clean golden beaches, unique wildlife and archeological sites. Shetland Museum and Archives, and Mareel, provide a fascinating insight into Shetland's rich heritage and cosmopolitan culture. Lerwick is host to local, national and international sailing races where visitors are welcome as spectators or participants.

SYMBISTER, WHALSAY

On Whalsay, Symbister is a handy stopover for cruising yachts and has both a small boat marina and a pier, as well as a nearby anchorage in North Voe, although as the bottom is foul with old moorings the anchor should be buoyed. The pier offers good berthing for around 20 visiting boats. The Boating Club is open most lunch times and evenings, and welcomes visitors. The nearest shop and post office is a 5 minute walk from the pier. There is a museum devoted to the German Hanseatic traders who once dominated the Shetland economy. The leisure centre is 15 minutes walk inland. The mainstay of the Whalsay community is pelagic fishing.

CULLIVOE

Cullivoe has a busy harbour mainly serving the seafood industries. The marina is a new development completed in 2022 providing leisure berthing. There are 5 visitor berths on east side of the pontoon / outer face. Minimum depth entrance/visitor berth is 2.0m CD. There is less water on the west side. Maximum size is 14m length but bigger boats up to 18m may be accommodated by arrangement. There is a shop 1 mile away with a good range of provisions/gas. Village hall is also 1 mile away. E bikes are available for hire. The area has fine beaches and is good for coastal walks.

BALTASOUND, UNST

Baltasound is a large harbour sheltered by the island of Balta at the mouth of the sound and by the high ground to the north and west. While the small boat marina is not suitable for visiting yachts, there is a good anchorage south west of the pier there is no full time piermaster. Haroldswick, a few miles north, is home to the Unst Boat Haven, Shetland's only museum dedicated to the history of the island's distinctive wooden boats and the line fishermen who used them until the early 20th Century. You can also see the unique 'Shetland Models' that are still raced around the islands. Note: The pontoon berth once sited on the west face of the main pier has been removed.

SCALLOWAY

The harbour in general is a commercial harbour with fishing, aquaculture and oil being the main activities, yachts are welcome at the main harbour though the piers are not of floating pontoon type. There is a pontoon for refuelling vessels (Diesel only). Within the harbour area there are 2 private marinas and a large boating club pontoon which are best suited to visiting yachts, on most occasions we would recommend that yachts use the Scalloway Boating Club (a private facility) for safe, fit for purpose berthing (contact them directly for rates). The village of Scalloway has all services and facilities near at hand, quality food is available locally as well as 2 shops which are open till late daily.
